

PDEA COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING MANJARI BK, PUNE

Shinde Chhatra at Wanawadi in Pune, India is a memorial dedicated to the 18th century Maratha military leader Mahadji Shinde who served as the commander-in-chief of the Maratha army under the Peshwar from 1760 to 1780. It is one of the most significant landmarks in the city and is reminiscent of the Maratha rule. It is a hall that marks the spot of Mahadji Shinde's cremation on 12 February 1794.

In 1794, the complex of the memorial only had a temple, dedicated to Lord Shiva, which was built by Mahadji Shinde himself. He died the same year and his last rites were performed in the premises. The memorial to Mahadji was commissioned by one of his descendents.

In 1910, a samadhi (memorial) was constructed outside the sanctum of the Shiva temple, in memory of Mahadji Shinde, exactly where he was cremated. Maharaja Madho Rao Scindia of Gwalior (1876 – 1925) commissioned the building of the complex, along with the memorial of Mahadji Shinde. The Architects of the monument were the firm of Shapurjee N. Chandabhoy of Bombay.

The Scindia of Gwalior are the descendants of Daulat Rao Sindhia, adopted son of Mahadji Shinde. It is maintained by Shinde Devasthan Trust, Gwalior.

Located on the left bank of the Mutha River, this complex is home to two temples, both dedicated to Lord Shiva. A distinctive feature of the complex is that a large part of the original stone ghat (a flight of steps leading down to a river) still exists. The steps were used by wrestlers and physical fitness enthusiasts for exercise. They would carry copper vessels filled with water up the steps and anoint the Shiva lingam (a representation of the deity), only to descend the steps and start again.

Vriddheshwar Mandir is said to have been built by Sardar Ghorpade (1645–1696), a member of the Peshwa army, at the very end of his life. It is one of the only temples on the northern bank of the Mutha River. The temple is a specimen of solid stonework. The square base has bracketed chajjas (an overhanging eave typical of Rajasthani architecture) above it. It has a tiered brick shikhara (the spire atop the sanctum sanctorum), topped with a lotus-shaped kalash (a pitcher and a sacred symbol used in temple architecture). At one point, the trustees had ordered the shikhara to be painted blue and green. Upon great criticism from conservationists, the paint was stripped and the spire currently stands bare.
